

Concordance between IPC-202.01 and the German Patent Classification (DPK)

The intention behind this table is not to identify corresponding subclasses in the different systems with precision, but rather to give a rough indication about corresponding areas. It is not based on systematic intellectual comparison of the systems, but mainly on statistics made by the German Patent and Trademark Office in 1972-1973. It may therefore give unsatisfactory results in areas where few documents were published. It also reflects the technology and versions of IPC and DPK of that time. The concordance between significantly modified parts of the IPC and older versions of the DPK may therefore be uncertain.
